I am Robin Greco. I am passionate about Graphic Design! I graduated from Digital Media Arts College (DMAC) with a Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree. I love the whole designing process beginning with brainstorming ideas, sketching, researching, and most of all - seeing the project through to completion. I find the designing process thrilling, exciting and at times addicting. I love the rush of creating something new. I hope you enjoy my creations.

Quick Fact - You've Got Curves

If you are a designer I'm sure you have heard about the Bezier curve especially if you have worked in Adobe Illustrator. The French engineer, Pierre Bezier, originally created the Bezier curve and from the look of the equations used to make these wonderful curves, he must have been a mathematical genius. As a designer we do not deal with the mathematical aspect of the curve, only with the wonderful results that gives our designs that added flare.

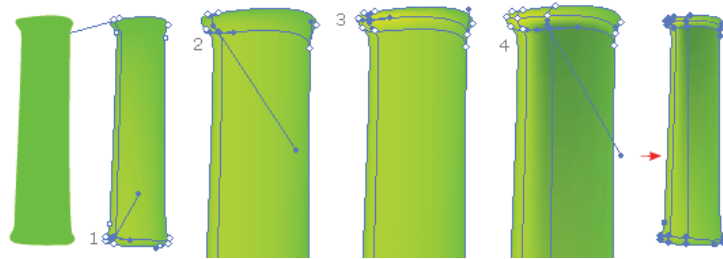

See inside to learn how to design this beautiful bamboo gradient mesh!

This month's Gradient Tutorial: Chinese Bamboo

By Nick La

1. DRAW BAMBOO BODY

2. CREATE BAMBOO STICK

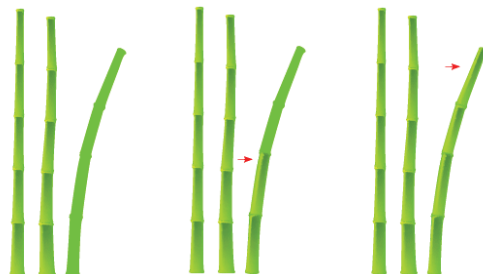

Select the bamboo body you've created in previous step, hold down the ALT key, drag it up to make a copy (you can use Copy & Paste if you like). Then shrink the new bamboo body horizontally with Selection Tool. Send this new bamboo body behind the first bamboo body by select Object > Arrange > Send Backward or press Ctrl+]. Repeat this step until you get a stack of 5 or 6.

3. DUPLICATE BAMBOO STICK

After you've finished the first bamboo, make a copy of it by ALT drag or Copy & Paste. Select the new bamboo stick, apply Filter > Distort > Twist(Angle=3) so that they don't look identical.

4. DRAW A BENDED BAMBOO

We want the bamboo look natural, not Copy & Paste, so we need to create a bended bamboo. Repeat Step 1 & 2 to create a bended bamboo like the image shown below. Now we 3 different versions of bamboo: straight, bended, and twisted.

10. SYMBOL SPINNER TOOL

Use Symbol Spinner Tool to rotate/spin Symbols.

11. SYMBOL SHIFTER TOOL

Use Symbol Shifter Tool to spread(by drag) bamboo leaves out.

12. SYMBOL STAINER TOOL

Select a lighter yellow-green tone color and use Symbol Stainer Tool to stain Symbols (stain Symbols randomly).

13. SYMBOL SCREENER TOOL

Use Symbol Screener Tool to reduce bamboo leaves Opacity (selectively click on the leaf symbols). This will get a see-through effect.

14. MAKE MORE LEAVES BEHIND

After you done with the leaves on Layer 2, make a new layer(Layer 3) and drag it to the bottom of the layer list. Lock Layer 1 and Layer 2, use Symbol Sprayer Tool to make more bamboo leaves(refer to Step 8-13) on Layer 3.

15. ADD MORE BAMBOO STICKS

Finally, duplicate more smaller bamboo sticks and send them behind the big bamboo sticks.

16. FINAL!

Here is the final image.
